

Service Name	ComCare
Background & Motivation	Because of the global increase of the elderly population ,the demand on senior home care service is rising. We often consider how to choose the best care method for our aging parents. For senior home care service, it is important to help the seniors use the high-tech product. However, the high-tech product is mostly designed for the youngers. ComCare is specifically designed for the seniors to increase their interests in learning the new tech.
Content	We focus on two parts of the ComCare services. The first is the physical health which provides data input and statistic analysis of diet nutrition/exercise, blood pressure/heart rate and body height/weight measurements. The second is the three mental health functions. One is online video chat with their families. The other two are schedule arrangement and photo sharing via the internet.
Expected Performance	ComCare strengthens the physical and mental health care capabilities for the seniors by combining ICT technologies. Furthermore, it would help promote the development of related industries such as tablet PC, mobile phone, information service, telemedicine and long-term care. It will play the key role to drive these industries and bring more business opportunities and jobs to our elder markets.
